SENATOR ALDRICH OF RHODE ISLAND WHO IS SHAPING THE HIGH TARIFF

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich has announced his intention to introduce a bill which will give him the right to shape the tariff schedules. Although the Rhode Island senator has long been famous for his range of his information on tariff intimate knowledge of national financial conditions, his fellow members of the upper branch of Congress had no idea that he was so thoroughly posted on the intricacies of tariff schedules. The tariff bill which bears the name of Representative Payne of New York and naturally has been labeled the Payne bill, will go down in history as the Aldrich bill by reason of the fight that the Senator has made for the restoration of schedules that the original measure sought to reduce. Senator Aldrich has met nearly every attack of the tariff reformers with exhaustive statistics to uphold his protection views. Even the maximum and minimum scale, which is baffling to the ordinary mortal, is readily elucidated by Senator Aldrich. His debate has been marked by the rarest skill, and his diplomacy has enabled him to restore many of the schedules that even a majority of his party leaders opposed.

Tomorrow — Kamehameha Day—near to the hearts of all native Hawaiians, will be celebrated in accordance with the usual custom by thousands of people on the various islands. With appropriate ceremonies the Kamehameha Lodge and the Hui Olowi will at 10 o'clock decorate the statue of the first great ruler, and the laurels of his reign will be made the subject of national songs and speeches. In the afternoon a great luau will be held, but the place has not as yet been selected. The races of the old Kamehameha day, well remembered by the aged native inhabitants, are no more, but other forms of amusement attract the people who make it their national holiday. The wheels of business are still, and everybody is expected to participate in the festivities.

The children of Honolulu are looking forward with excited expectancy to the dawn of tomorrow. The little folks will take possession of all the available picnic grounds and celebrate in their childish fashion the memorial ceremonies devoted to the departed Monarch who created of Hawaii an Island Empire.

Little Tommy will receive an extra scrubbing for the occasion, while sister Alice is picking out her best frock and primping with a view of dazzling Johnny Jones, who has insisted on paying too much attention to her cousin. Visions of good things to eat, the big swings, and the slide boards have been the dreams of the youngsters for a week, and their rollicking laughter will be heard on all sides.

At about 9 o'clock all of the children attending the Central Union Sunday School will assemble at the church. Special cars will be provided to bring the children from Kalia church, Palama Settlement and Kakaia Mission to the Oahu College grounds, which is annually turned over to the church by President Griffith on this day. Here the youngsters will meet from the main church and all its branches, and the program will be announced for the day. Until noon, swings, slide boards and other amusements will be provided. Promptly at 12 o'clock the good things to eat will be spread on tables and on the grass, where it is expected fully 1,500 children will attend. Last year there were about 1,200.

IS UP TO FAIR- CHILD

A new proposition has been made by the Territorial Government to the Mahee Sugar Company for the exchange of the Kapa lands, and although the proposition has not yet been accepted, it is understood that the prospects for settling the vexed matter are brighter now than they have been since negotiations first began, about a year and a half ago.

The new proposition made by Governor Frear in a letter to Senator Fairchild, the managing representative of the Mahee interests, is in the main similar to the original proposition made by the Government early in the negotiations. There are, however, two important changes. The Mahee Sugar Company objected seriously in the first instance to that provision of the proposed leave limiting the time it should run to nine years. This, they said, was entirely too short a time to make it worth their while to enter into the deal. This objection is now overcome by the concession of the Government to the effect that the lease shall run for the extreme length of time allowed by the Organic Act as amended, which is 15 years.

Another particular in which the new proposition differs from the one originally made by the Government is in relation to the water rights. Under the old proposition the water and the land went together. Under such conditions the Government, under the right reserved by itself, decide to withdraw certain of the land for home-use purposes, it would find this impracticable on account of the fact that the water would be under the control of the sugar company and could not be used without the consent of that company.

Under the provisions of the new proposition the land and the water do not go together, but the company is to be given the use of the water, under and subject to the control of the Territory. This obviates what was one of the most serious objections on the part of the Territory to the first proposition which was made by the Territorial officials.

As previously stated, the new proposition in general is the same as that made over a year ago and which was rejected by Col. Spaulding. The lands concerned lie on the two sides of the Kealia river. On the north side of

AIEA JAPANESE WORKING IN FIELD

First Gang "Turned To"

This Morning

WAIAPAHUANS COME TO TOWN; OTHERS PREPARE TO WORK

Japanese Wholesale Merchants Holding Important Meeting Today to Settle Agitators.

Japanese turned out to work on Honolulu plantation this morning, marking the first appearance of Japanese in the field since the strike started. A number of Japanese workmen at Oahu plantation are preparing to go to work, they having moved into the camp. About four hundred followers of the Agitators have left Waipahu, the women and children coming to town this morning.

Japanese wholesale merchants are holding very important meetings today. The matters discussed are reported to be a better understanding of the situation by the retail merchants of Waipahu and the withdrawal of support from the Agitator organ.

The first of the returned Japanese laborers went to work on Honolulu plantation this morning. They are what is known as the Arakawa men and although their number is not large they are in the field and doing business.

This furnishes the nucleus about which the others will form.

Last night these men and the women of the party were comfortably housed in the Japanese camp of the plantation. The men did not ask for protection particularly, saying that if any one came to disturb them the intruders would get all that was coming to them. The plantation authorities, however, took steps to have the camp carefully guarded and the men will be protected against any violence in the field.

Hiking From Waipahu. The feature of the night and early morning today was the squads of Japanese strikers from Waipahu who lined the roadways to town.

About half past six last evening some four hundred of the laborers of Waipahu began their march to the Agitators' headquarters.

The riot of the night before and the large number of arrests following through the day, Wednesday, caused these people to decide to get out as there was no assurance that some of them could go back to the houses if they wanted to. Manager Bull has determined on cleaning out the disreputable element in and around his plantation and he has the solid support of the community in making a thorough job of it while he is at work.

Probably five hundred men and women left Waipahu yesterday evening and early this morning. Nothing is being done to have them remain, as these people are free agents and there
